

SCIENTIAE 2019: Extended CFP Ireland (March 8)

The 2019 Scientiae conference will be held at Queen's University, Belfast from June 12th-15th. Based on proposals already accepted, we anticipate a conference of approximately 175 scholars, most of them at mid- or senior-career. However, to encourage local participation, we are pleased to invite further proposals from researchers on the island of Ireland only, with a deadline of March 8th.

Scientiae is the interdisciplinary conference on intellectual culture, 1400-1800. It is centred on, but not limited to, developments in the early-modern natural sciences. Philosophers, historians, literary scholars and others are invited to share their perspectives on this vital period. Belfast 2019 will be our 8th annual meeting.

Our plenary speakers at Belfast will be Ingrid Rowland (Notre Dame/Rome) and Rob Iliffe (Oxford).

Ingrid Rowland is Professor of Art History in the School of Architecture at the University of Notre Dame (Rome). Among her many books are Giordano Bruno, Philosopher/Heretic (2008) and The Scarith of Scornello: A Tale of Renaissance Forgery (2004).

Rob Iliffe is Professor of History of Science at the University of Oxford. He co-directs the Oxford Centre for the History of Science, Medicine and Technology, and is a General Editor of the Newton Project. His most recent book is Priest of Nature: the Religious Worlds of Isaac Newton (2017).

Scientiae 2019 will also feature two plenary panel sessions: One led by Subha Mukherji (Cambridge) on “Forms of Knowing”; and the other co-led by Marco Sgarbi, Pietro Daniel Omodeo, and Craig Martin (all from Ca' Foscari, Venice) on “Early-modern Aristotelianisms.”

Other confirmed speakers for Scientiae 2019 include: Raz Chen-Morris, Antonio Clericuzio, Alix Cooper, Sven Dupré, Peter Hess, Kevin Killeen, W.R. Laird, Nancy McLoughlin, Robert Morrison, Cesare Pastorino, and Vladimir Urbanek.

Proposals are invited for:

- Individual (20-minute) papers: Please submit a descriptive title, 250-word abstract, and one-page CV.

- Complete panels: Same as above for each paper, plus 150-word rationale for the panel. Maximum four panellists, plus chair (and/or respondent).
- Workshops: One-page CV for each workshop leader, plus 250-word plan for the session: topic, techniques, hands-on resources, etc.
